PRINCIPAL ACTIVITIES

Mental Health Australia is the national peak body for the mental health sector. As a Company limited by guarantee, our members include national organisations representing consumers, carers, special needs groups, clinical service providers, professional bodies, public and private mental health service providers, researchers, and state/territory community mental health peak bodies.

This financial year the Board and staff continued to deliver on our vision for Mentally healthy people, mentally healthy communities with the focus on achieving the following core objectives of the Strategic Plan 2021-2024:

- 1. Promote a national voice for those with lived experience of mental illness and for those who love and care for them.
- 2. Highlight the social determinants for mental ill health and advocate for lasting changes across the whole ecosystem.
- 3. Deliver value to our members and the wider mental health ecosystem

Mental Health Australia's principal activity has been to actively engage with stakeholders on a range of mental health policy issues and advocate at national level of government for policy reform. This has involved broad engagement, forging and maintaining partnerships and collaboration, and driving a clear coherent voice for reform on behalf of the sector.

Specific activities Mental Health Australia Limited undertook to deliver against its short and long term strategic objectives included:

Policy submissions – throughout the 2022-23 financial year 11 key submissions were prepared covering a range of national mental health issues.

- The 2022 Parliamentary Advocacy Day achieved a record number of meetings with parliamentarians (approximately 65) and 60 member delegates attending the day at Parliament House to advocate for mental health reform. Attendees heard from the Assistant Minister for Mental Health and Suicide Prevention, the Hon Emma McBride MP, the Shadow Assistant Minister for Mental Health and Suicide Prevention, Mrs Melissa McIntosh MP, the Greens Health Spokesperson, Senator Jordan Steele-John and the Department of Health and Aged Care.
- The 2022 World Mental Health Day (WMHD) campaign was successfully in market throughout October promoting the tagline "Look after your mental health, Australia". The campaign adopted secondary messaging of "Awareness, Belonging and Connection", encouraging further action to sign up to the campaign website to create mindful habits for mental health during October. Paid social media generated a total 6.9 million reach, with 8.4 million impressions. Most of the registrations came from 25 - 45 year age group, most traffic and registration came from female audiences, and the region with the highest number of sessions and registrations was Victoria, followed by New South Wales and Queensland.
- The Embrace Multicultural Mental Health Project continued to work with the Federation of Ethnic Communities' Councils of Australia (FECCA) and the National Ethnic Disability Alliance (NEDA) as part of the Embrace Alliance, as well as engage with the Stakeholder Group and CALD Mental Health Consumer and Carer Group. During 2022-23, the Embrace Project team completed a 12-month program to support 13 Primary Health Networks to embed the Framework within their commissioning practices. The Project Team also continued the Community Engagement Project, engaging another three communities and contracting community organisations to identify mental health issues and develop culturally appropriate resources. The Project Team also commissioned two key research projects and commenced the Embrace Suicide Prevention Pilot Project, with R U OK? and Suicide Prevention Australia.
- The Policy and Research team continued to develop policy and advocacy across the social determinants of mental health. Considerable work has been undertaken in 2022-23 on housing, psychosocial disability, the Royal Commission into Defence and Veteran Suicide and the NDIS Review.
- In the lead up to the 2023 Federal Budget, the Policy and Research team drafted a Pre-Budget Submission which outlined priorities for the government to invest in:
 - lived experience leadership
 - government leadership and accountability
 - development of a community-focussed mental health system (including addressing social determinants of mental health)
 - the mental health workforce
- Subsequently, Mental Health Australia hosted a Members Policy Forum during Budget Week (11 May 2023) in Canberra with approximately 80 member representatives, which included presentations from the Assistant Minister for Mental Health and Suicide Prevention, the Hon Emma McBride MP, the Department of Health and Aged Care, representatives from NDIS review panel and a Lived Experience panel discussion.
- Regular media and communications activities continued to engage stakeholders, with distribution of regular CEO Update e-newsletters to more than 5,000 recipients weekly. The CEO's blog provides commentary on both key strategic issues and topical stories pertaining to mental health and, as well as being distributed via email, and shared via Mental Health Australia's owned media (LinkedIn, Facebook, Instagram and X (formerly Twitter).

Note 1. Significant accounting policies

The principal accounting policies adopted in the preparation of the financial statements are set out below. These policies have been consistently applied to all the years presented, unless otherwise stated.

New or amended Accounting Standards and Interpretations adopted

The company has adopted all of the new or amended Accounting Standards and Interpretations issued by the Australian Accounting Standards Board ('AASB') that are mandatory for the current reporting period.

Any new or amended Accounting Standards or Interpretations that are not yet mandatory have not been early adopted.

The adoption of these Accounting Standards and Interpretations did not have any significant impact on the financial performance or position of the company.

Basis of preparation

These general purpose financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards – Simplified Disclosures issued by the AASB, the Australian Charities and Not-for-profits Commission Act 2012 and associated regulations, as appropriate for not-for-profit oriented entities.

The financial statements, except for the cash flow information, have been prepared on an accruals basis and are based on historical costs modified, where applicable, by the measurement at fair value of selected non-current assets, financial assets and financial liabilities. The amounts presented in the financial statements have been rounded to the nearest dollar.

Revenue recognition

Grants

Grant funding that contains specific conditions and enforceable obligations on the use of those funds are recognised per AASB 15, such that income is recognised as and when the Company satisfies its performance obligations stated within the funding agreements. For such grants it is the policy of the Company to treat grant monies as contract liabilities in the statement of financial position where the Company is contractually obliged to provide the services in a subsequent financial period to when the grant is received or in the case of specific project grants where the project has not been completed. General grants that do not impose specific performance obligations on the Company are recognised as per AASB 1058 where income is recognised when the Company obtains control of those funds, which is usually on receipt.

Member subscriptions

Membership subscriptions is recognised for the period of the membership.

Donations and sponsorship

Donations and sponsorships are recognised as income when received.

Other revenue

Other revenue is recognised when it is received or the right to receive payment is established.

Interest

Interest income is recognised when it is probable that the economic benefit will flow to the Company and the amount of revenue can be reliably measured. Interest income is accrued on a time basis by reference to the principal and the effective interest rate applicable.

Income Tax

No provision for income tax has been raised as the Company is exempt from income tax under Div 50 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

Goods and Services Tax (GST)

Revenues, expenses and assets are recognised net of the amount of GST, except where the amount of GST incurred is not recoverable from the Australian Taxation Office (ATO).

Receivables and payables are stated inclusive of the amount of GST receivable or payable. The net amount GST recoverable from, or payable to, the ATO is included with other receivables or payables in the statement of financial position.

Cash flows are presented on a gross basis. The GST components of cash flows arising from investing or financing activities which are recoverable from, or payable to the ATO, are presented as operating cash flows included in receipts from customers or payments to suppliers.

Right-of-use assets

A right-of-use asset is recognised at the commencement date of a lease. The right-of-use asset is measured at cost, which comprises the initial amount of the lease liability, adjusted for, as applicable, any lease payments made at or before the commencement date net of any lease incentives received, any initial direct costs incurred, and, except where included in the cost of inventories, an estimate of costs expected to be incurred for dismantling and removing the underlying asset, and restoring the site or asset.

Right-of-use assets are depreciated on a straight-line basis over the unexpired period of the lease or the estimated useful life of the asset, whichever is the shorter. Where the Company expects to obtain ownership of the leased asset at the end of the lease term, the depreciation is over its estimated useful life. Right-of use assets are subject to impairment or adjusted for any remeasurement of lease liabilities.

The Company has elected not to recognise a right-of-use asset and corresponding lease liability for short-term leases with terms of 12 months or less and leases of low-value assets. Lease payments on these assets are expensed to profit or loss as incurred.

Lease liability

A lease liability is recognised at the commencement date of a lease. The lease liability is initially recognised at the present value of the lease payments to be made over the term of the lease, discounted using the interest rate implicit in the lease or, if that rate cannot be readily determined, the Company's incremental borrowing rate. Lease payments comprise of fixed payments less any lease incentives receivable, variable lease payments that depend on an index or a rate, amounts expected to be paid under residual value guarantees, exercise price of a purchase option when the exercise of the option is reasonably certain to occur, and any anticipated termination penalties. The variable lease payments that do not depend on an index or a rate are expensed in the period in which they are incurred.

Lease liabilities are measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method. The carrying amounts are remeasured if there is a change in the following: future lease payments arising from a change in an index or a rate used; residual guarantee; lease term; certainty of a purchase option and termination penalties. When a lease liability is remeasured, an adjustment is made to the corresponding right-of use asset, or to profit or loss if the carrying amount of the right-of-use asset is fully written down.

Comparative Figures

When required by Accounting Standards, comparative figures have been adjusted to conform with changes in presentation for the current financial year.

When the Company retrospectively applies an accounting policy, makes a retrospective restatement or reclassifies items in its financial statements, an additional statement of financial position as at the beginning of the preceding comparative period, in addition to the minimum comparative financial statements, must be disclosed Commitments and contingencies are disclosed net of the amount of GST recoverable from, or payable to, the tax authority.

Critical accounting judgements, estimates and assumptions

The preparation of the financial statements requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts in the financial statements. Management continually evaluates its judgements and estimates in relation to assets, liabilities, contingent liabilities, revenue and expenses. Management bases its judgements, estimates and assumptions on historical experience and on other various factors, including expectations of future events, management believes to be reasonable under the circumstances. The resulting accounting judgements and estimates will seldom equal the related actual results. The judgements, estimates and assumptions that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities (refer to the respective notes) within the next financial year are discussed below.

Employee benefits provision

The liability for employee benefits expected to be settled more than 12 months from the reporting date are recognised and measured at the present value of the estimated future cash flows to be made in respect of all employees at the reporting date. In determining the present value of the liability, estimates of attrition rates and pay increases through promotion and inflation have been taken into account.

Note 7(a). Non-current assets - property, plant and equipment (continued)

Accounting policy

Each class of property, plant and equipment is carried at cost or fair value as indicated, less, where applicable, any accumulated depreciation and impairment losses.

Plant and equipment are measured on the cost basis and are therefore carried at cost less accumulated depreciation and any accumulated impairment losses.

In the event the carrying amount of plant and equipment is greater than the estimated recoverable amount, the carrying amount is written down immediately to the estimated recoverable amount and impairment losses are recognised either in profit or loss or as a revaluation decrease if the impairment losses relate to a revalued asset. A formal assessment of recoverable amount is made when impairment indicators are present.

Subsequent costs are included in the asset's carrying amount or recognised as a separate asset, as appropriate, only when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the Company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. All other repairs and maintenance are recognised as expenses in profit or loss in the financial period in which they are incurred.

The depreciable amount of all fixed assets is depreciated on a straight-line basis over the asset's useful life to the Company commencing from the time the asset is available for use.

The depreciation rates used for each class of depreciable asset are:

Leasehold improvements	7.5%
Office equipment	20% - 33.3%

The assets' residual values and useful lives are reviewed, and adjusted if appropriate, at the end of each reporting period.

Gains and losses on disposals are determined by comparing proceeds with the carrying amount. These gains or losses are recognised in profit or loss in the period in which they arise.

At the end of each reporting period, the Company assesses whether there is any indication that an asset may be impaired. The assessment will include the consideration of external and internal sources of information. If such an indication exists, an impairment test is carried out on the asset by comparing the recoverable amount of the asset, being the higher of the asset's fair value less costs to sell and value in use, to the asset's carrying amount. Any excess of the asset's carrying amount over its recoverable amount is recognised immediately in profit or loss.

Where the future economic benefits of the asset are not primarily dependent upon the asset's ability to generate net cash inflows and when the Company would, if deprived of the asset, replace its remaining future economic benefits, value in use is determined as the depreciated replacement cost of an asset.

Where it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of an individual asset, the Company estimates the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit to which the asset belongs.

Short-term employee provisions

Provision is made for the Company's obligation for short-term employee benefits. Short-term employee benefits are benefits (other than termination benefits) that are expected to be settled wholly before 12 months after the end of the annual reporting period in which the employees render the related service, including wages and salaries. Short-term employee benefits are measured at the (undiscounted) amounts expected to be paid when the obligation is settled.

Other long-term employee provisions

Provision is made for employees' long service leave and annual leave entitlements not expected to be settled wholly within 12 months after the end of the annual reporting period in which the employees render the related service. Other long-term employee benefits are measured at the present value of the expected future payments to be made to employees. Expected future payments incorporate anticipated future wage and salary levels, durations of service and employee departures, and are discounted at rates determined by reference to market yields at the end of the reporting period on high quality corporate bonds that have maturity dates that approximate the terms of the obligations. Upon the remeasurement of obligations for other long-term employee benefits, the net change in the obligation is recognised in profit or loss as a part of employee benefits expense.
